Governor's gift: $750,000 for road

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Granite City will receive approximately $750,000 in matching state funds to reconstruct 18th Street between Madison and Neldringhaus Avenue, improving access to National Steel's new processing facility, as well as other steel companies and manufacturers in the area.

The road is part of a truck route, and is extremely deteriorated, especially at intersections.

The money, a $750,000 grant from the Illinois Department of Transportation, will be matched with county and city funds. The state money will pay for half the construction cost, with the city and county each paying one-quarter of the cost.

The money will be used to reconstruct the 24-foot-wide roadway with curbs, gutters and storm sewers, and to make improvements at the Madison and Neldringhaus intersections.

"It's one of the many important things happening in Southwestern Illinois," Edgar said.

"The state is committed to making sure Southwestern Illinois gets its fair share.

"Illinois has a lot to offer to companies wanting to expand or locate here," Edgar said. "We have an excellent transportation system, infrastructure, access to markets, a quality workforce and a positive business climate.

"The improvement of 18th Street is important to the steel companies and manufacturers in the area that employ thou

Heat claims 2nd victim

By Scott Cousins

Temperatures that reached a high of 101 degrees are being blamed for the death of a 44-year-old Venice man found in his apartment Friday.

The death is the third heat-related fatality reported in Madison County, and the second in Venice.

Walter Mays of Lee Wright Homes in Venice was pronounced dead in the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City Friday afternoon. According to the Madison County Coroner's Office, he died of heat stroke.

Mays had been transported to the hospital by ambulance after being found in his home.

At the time of his death, officials with the coroner's office said his body temperature was 112 degrees.

Emergency room workers reported treating eight heat-related cases from Friday morning to Saturday afternoon, all except the fatality were treated and released. No heat-related cases have been reported since Saturday afternoon.

That number more than doubled the week's total of heat cases. Hospital officials had said five people were treated from Monday through Friday morning. Of those, only one was serious enough to require hospitalization.

On Aug. 1, the body of 66-year-old Carlene Briggs of Venice was found in her apartment. She had been dead for several days.

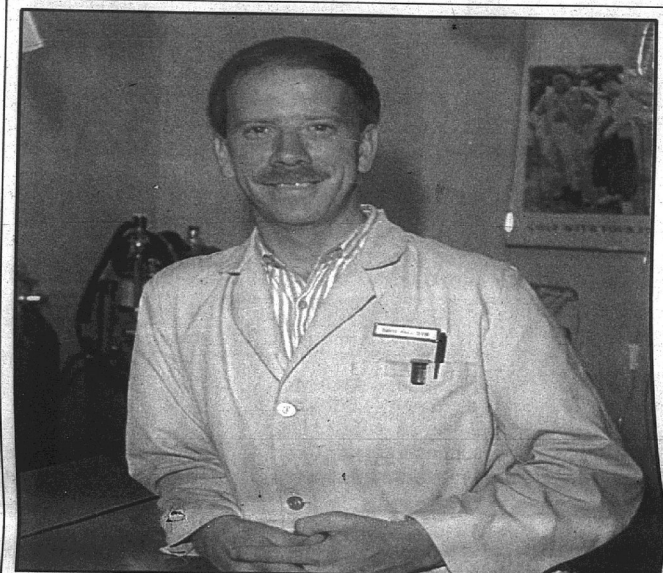

On July 16, an 83-year-old Glen Carbon man was also found in his home.

According to the National Weather Service, Friday's official high hit 101 at 2:30 p.m. Saturday's high was 97 degrees, but a cool front late that night kept high temperatures down to 86 degrees Sunday.

Roy Echberg, a meteorologist with the National Weather Service in St. Louis, said temperatures were expected to stay in the low 90s until Wednesday.

Through Sunday, the high temperatures are expected to be in the mid to upper 90s.

"Late in the weekend there might be a cool down," Echberg said. "But big high pressure is going to dominate the Midwest."

Misson of mercy County vet finds job rewarding

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

David Hall may not have the most glamorous job in Madison County, but in the minds of pet owners he has one of the most important jobs. Hall is administrator of the Madison County Animal Control Department, and it is his job to make sure stray dogs are taken off the street, that unwanted animals receive medical attention and that animals are not forced to suffer unnecessarily.

Hall, who grew up in Maryville, said he is unsure of when he actually made the decision to become a veterinarian. It just seemed like the right thing for him, he said.

"I don't think I ever made a conscious decision to become a vet," Hall said. "I've always been interested in science and animals, so I guess it was just a natural fit."

Hall graduated from the University of Missouri in 1987 and took his first job that year at the Crookwood Animal Hospital in

Suspect was sought in killings

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A Granite City woman arrested over the weekend on armed robbery charges out of Madison County turned out to be wanted in a drug-related 1992 slaying in East St. Louis.

Nicole Henry, 25, of the 2600 block of Pontoon Road in Granite City, was arrested by Granite police early Saturday morning at the intersection of 25th and Washington. The reason for the arrest was unavailable.

She had been charged with armed robbery in a Madison County warrant issued Aug. 17.

As of Monday afternoon, she was in custody at the Madison County jail. Bond for the assault case was set at $100,000, and $40,000 for the murder and robbery charges.

According to Madison police, on August 16 Henry attempted to rob another woman in the 1600 block of Third Street, using a pair of scissors.

While researching the case, Madison detective Neal Mize discovered Henry also had outstanding warrants for robbery and murder in St. Clair County.

"They (other police agencies) knew where she was, but there was some type of clerical foul-

Kids choose in Newsboys poll

Kids count. That is why the Old Newsboys Day fund drive has, for the past 40 years, raised money for local children's charities.

This year, kids count on Old Newsboys Day in more ways than one. The special edition Suburban Journal sold on Old Newsboys Day, Nov. 2, will feature the results of the first Children's Choice Awards.

Look for the Children's Choice questionnaire in today's Suburban Journal. Fill it out, return it to the Journal and the results will be published in the Old Newsboys Day edition.

Youngsters in two categories — 12 years of age and under; and 13 to 18 — will have the opportunity to vote on their favorites — pizza, dessert, ice cream, book, television show, radio personality, cartoon character, brand of jeans, rock group and sport.

To see the results, purchase an Old Newsboys Day Suburban Journal on Nov. 2.

All money paid for the paper will go directly to local children's charities.

Since the Old Newsboys Day fund drive was begun by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat in 1957, $5.5 million has been raised.

School board filing begins

Five individuals in Granite City and six in Madison filed petitions Monday to have their names placed on the top of the November school board ballot.

There will be four seats to fill in Granite City — three four-year terms and one two-year term — and five in Madison — three four-year and two two-year terms.

Monday was the first day to file petitions for the Nov. 7 election. The last day will be next Monday, Aug. 28.

Three of the five who filed in Granite City are incumbents, including Rick Dickerson and Jeff Parker, who will each seek a four-year seat, and incumbent Jim Noeth, who was the lone individual seeking an unexpired two-year term.

Also filing for a four-year seat on the Granite City school board were John Caudron and former district employee Ron Dillard.

When it comes to beauty,
Mum's The Word!
from the experts at

FRANK'S®

The ever-popular mum has long been the center-stage attraction in gardens throughout the country. Its brilliance is a tough act to follow. The mum brings the gardening season to a close unlike any other flower.

There are new hybrid varieties of mums available today, and they're noted for both early bloom and winter hardiness. The season of bloom has been significantly increased. People in northern climates can now enjoy the beauty that mums provide.

Although there are new varieties, the mum itself is hardly the new kid on the block. They've been used in gardens of China since before 550 B.C. Most of the species are native to China, Japan or Europe.

The mum (Chrysanthemum, actually, but since that's a lengthy word, we'll use mum), is a large genus of annual and perennial herbs belonging to the Aster family. Some species, such as pyrethrum and shasta daisy, bear ornamental flowers even during the summer months. The most famous of all, the garden mum, is the showiest of all fall blossoms. Its flowers are pleasantly muscled, and the garden mum is available in many sizes.

Here are some tips to help you enjoy your mums to the max.

Mums have hearty appetites. They require plenty of plant food to attain maximum development. Liberal quantities of manure or compost should be added to the flower bed before planting them.

In sunny, well-drained locations, individual specimens set at 2-foot intervals become masses of bloom when little else remains, since mums are late-season bloomers. They're also able to withstand light frosts. The taller varieties can enhance garden borders quite well, while the low growers are fine as edging, in urns and tubs, rock gardens or foundation plantings next to evergreens.

Most taller mums are superb for cutting. Their flowers will last two or three weeks in water, but the leaves should be removed from the submerged portion of the stem.

Mums are also excellent when arranged with fall foliage or berried branches.

Thousands of mum cultivars have been developed, and classification of the many types is based mainly on flower form and growth habit.

Cushion: The dwarf hardy spreading type. The most common garden variety. Petals are regularly or irregularly reflexed. The flowers are an inch and a half to several inches across, with the petals varying in length.

Pompon: The flowers are usually spherical and not over 4 inches across. Some have curved petals in the center of the flower head.

Spoon: The disk florets (those that form the central "eye") are rather flat, while the ray florets (those that form the "petals") are regularly arranged and spoon-shaped.

Single and Daisy-flowered: The disk florets form a daisy-like "eye" in the center, while the ray or petal-like florets are arranged in not more than five rows.

While mums are great, they're not perfect, but not much is. They're not immune to diseases, especially in crowded or starved plants. Try to provide plenty of room for your plants, with good air and adequate sunlight. You'll definitely increase their chances for a long, healthy life.

'Business Blitz' United Way volunteers begin annual drive

On Aug. 9, 35 United Way volunteers contacted 100 local business owners in the Tri-Cities area.

This "Business Blitz" was the beginning effort of the 1995 community fund drive. The contributions raised during the "Business Blitz" will be reported at the official United Way kickoff event Sept. 7.

"The success of the annual United Way campaign each fall is the direct result of the wide base of support provided within the Tri-Cities community," said Robert Glik, chairman of the blitz event.

"Last year, businesses and employees of firms in Granite City, Madison, Pomona Beach and Venice contributed $1,116,000 for local health and human services through United Way. This outstanding total far exceeds the per capita results of other United Way organizations," said Glik.

Because it is difficult to recognize each and every contribution to United Way, the "Business Blitz" was developed to acknowledge local entrepreneurs who support the campaign each year. Local businesses are an important part of the success of the annual campaign.

Seventy local businesses contributed $8,855 during the "Business Blitz," an 18 percent increase over last year's contributions by the same businesses.

A thank you is extended to the following businesses for participating in the United Way "Business Blitz":

SIUE looking more and more like home

A contract for on-campus housing looks like a hot ticket for the fall semester that begins today at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Last fall there weren't enough applicants to fill the brand new 502-student-capacity Student Residence Hall. This year, there's barely enough space to go around.

"Last year, we were running at 70 to 72 percent of capacity for the year at the Residence Hall," said Michael Schultz, director of housing at SIUE. "This year, we're scrambling for space. We will be over 100 percent this fall."

Students who can't be accommodated at the Residence Hall are being offered housing in the university's Tower Lake Apartments. There is also a waiting list for family housing units at Tower Lake.

Schultz attributed the increased demand to several factors. He said some residents from last year decided to return and SIUE's freshman enrollment apparently will be up from last year.

The Residence Hall is intended primarily for freshman students, but residents from last year who agreed to be peer assistants to help orient new students were allowed to return, Schultz said.

He said SIUE also broadened its marketing and recruiting efforts, offering scholarships to students with high ACT scores who wanted to live on campus.

The university plans a greater variety of activities for on-campus residents with programs more closely tailored to their needs and interests, Schultz said.

He said the growing number of on-campus residents will continue to change the atmosphere on the 30-year-old campus, where most students continue to commute from nearby communities.

Construction was still under way when the Residence Hall opened last fall, and new students had to cope with problems that included furniture shortages, a telephone system that didn't work and a computer lab that wasn't ready. Schultz said those and most other start-up problems have been resolved.

Democrats rally at State Fair

SPRINGFIELD — A Democratic Day rally at the Illinois State Fair mostly turned out to be a rally for the U.S. Senate candidacy of U.S. Rep. Richard Durbin.

The event also featured a display of unity by state party chairman Gary LaPaille and his predecessor, state Sen. Vince Demuzio, D-Carlinville. The two have often feuded since LaPaille blocked Demuzio's desire for a second four-year term as state party chairman in 1990.

But they pledged cooperation and shared host duties Thursday. A sizeable majority of the hundreds who showed up in the sweltering heat were displaying Durbin stickers or wearing Durbin T-shirts.

It was in contrast to previous fair Democratic Day rallies, when the crowd would be primarily swelled with employees of state Democratic officeholders wearing shirts extolling their bosses. But since the statewide Democratic slate went down to defeat last fall, only a small group of Senate Democratic staffers wore shirts identifying their boss, Minority Leader Emil Jones.

"I like those (Durbin for Senate) shirts. We'll have the socks and underwear later in the day," Durbin joked.

Four other candidates for the seat that will be vacated by retiring Sen. Paul Simon also spoke but received only a polite response from the crowd, which clearly was dominated by Durbin supporters.

Durbin's rivals who spoke included former state treasurer Patrick Quinn, Chicago public relations executive and former city official Ron Gibbs and Chicago businessmen Paul Park and Khalil Ahmad.

Quinn indirectly attacked Durbin by criticizing candidates who accepted campaign contributions from "special interest" political action committees.

Others addressing the rally included former Democratic National Party Chairman David Wilhelm, who recently dropped out of the race for the Simon seat, and the state's two U.S. senators, Simon and Carol Moseley-Braun.

Simon opened by praising Demuzio and LaPaille for working together and said Democrats needed to focus on door-to-door, get-out-the-vote efforts to regain power. He cited low turnout in 1994 elections and suggested it was primarily Democrats who had stayed home.

Moseley-Braun has also endorsed Durbin but did not mention it during her speech.

Parks College closing pushed back one year

By Mike Viola
Staff writer

Students at Parks College will be able to attend the campus in Cahokia for an additional year. Last week St. Louis University officials announced that plans to close Parks at the end of the 1996 school year have been pushed back to the end of the 1997 school year.

The programs offered at Parks will be merged on the main SLU campus when the facilities are closed in Cahokia. "Our first plan was to purchase a facility on or near the Front (main) campus but we have been unable to do so," said John Kerr, director of public relations for SLU.

Kerr said that since the university was unable to purchase a facility for the Parks programs, SLU is now planning to build a new building for Parks on its main campus.

"After re-evaluating the situation we now believe that building a brand new facility is the best option," Kerr said.

Students and faculty at Parks have experienced a large amount of turmoil over the past year concerning their school. Last winter discussion began concerning whether or not Parks should be closed and merged onto the SLU campus.

In March, the SLU Board of Trustees approved a plan to merge the college onto SLU's Front Campus but at the time did not set a date for the merger.

SLU officials had discussed the idea of closing down the Cahokia campus this summer with students attending classes in St. Louis this fall.

But that plan was eliminated when facilities could not be obtained by SLU and it was announced that Parks would close at the end of the 1995-96 school year.

Now Parks will stay in Cahokia through the 1996-97 school year.

Officials from Cahokia are planning to have a feasibility study performed in an attempt to convince SLU officials that it should keep Parks located in Cahokia.

State Rep. Wyvetter Young is leading efforts at the state level to have the feasibility study performed.

SLU officials, however, have made no indication that they are even thinking about keeping the college in Cahokia.

Since March, SLU representatives have repeatedly stated that the decision to close Parks was final and that only the timetable was uncertain.

When Parks does move to St. Louis, SLU will still operate a small facility at Parks Airport for pilot and maintenance programs.

Theater season opens this week

"Stonewater Rapture," Doug Wright's play about social and religious issues in a small South Texas town, kicks off the Student Experimental Theater Organization (SETO) 1995-96 season at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The play will be performed at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 24-27, at the James F. Metcalf Theater on the SIUE campus, adjacent to the Student Fitness Center parking lot.

SETO shows are produced and staged by SIUE theater and dance students. Director Donna Parrone says Wright's play is an intense look at two young people in love and how religious and social issues in a small town can come to bear on a relationship. Parrone is an alumna of SIUE.

"This play explores the detrimental effect that religious beliefs can have if they do not conform to one's life experiences," Parrone said.

"Stonewater Rapture" is about sacrifice, what we are willing to sacrifice for another being, and how those decisions are hampered by religious-based ignorance.

Holbrook hosting television show

From questions about area road and bridge projects to events taking place at Cahokia Mounds, a new television show being hosted by state Rep. Tom Holbrook, D-Bellefonte, is putting the spotlight on a variety of issues that touch the lives of residents throughout the Metro East.

"As a lawmaker, I host a wide variety of individuals locally and within state government," Holbrook said.

"This program offers me a unique opportunity to share views and information on legislation, local projects or special events with the residents in and around the 118th district."

The program, "Views From the Capitol," began in May and is aired throughout the area with new guests and topics every month.

"It's hard to keep up to date on everything that's going on," Holbrook said.

"The goal of the show is to provide people useful information in an entertaining, low-key fashion."

Guests featured on "Views From the Capitol" include sheriffs, educators, child advocates, bridge builders, wardens and a museum director.

"Whether they pick up the phone to offer their services to an agency in need or write my office to get more information about a particular piece of legislation, I hope this program will help get people interested in some of the things going on throughout the state and in their own backyard," Holbrook emphasized.

"Views From the Capitol" can be seen on Granite City Government TV, Channel 6, or on the local public access channel offered by Continental Cable in St. Clair County and Charter Cable and TCI of Illinois in Madison County.

Domestic violence has many reasons

The most common question asked regarding domestic violence is, "Why doesn't she just leave?"

If one has never been a victim of domestic violence this might be an obvious question. However, when the subject is explored thoroughly one is likely to ask the more appropriate question, "Why doesn't the batterer leave?"

Here are a few reasons why battered women "just don't leave," according to experts in the field.

• Up to 50 percent of all homeless women and children in this country are fleeing domestic violence. Yet there are nearly three times as many animal shelters for battered animals as there are for battered women.

• Victimization by intimates and other relatives accounts for only 5 percent of all violent victimization against men.

• After being in a homeless shelter, 31 percent of abused women in New York City returned to their batterer, primarily because they could not locate longer term housing.

• Currently there are 2,000 battered women in America who are serving prison time for defending their lives against batterers. FBI statistics indicate that women convicted for killing their male partners are frequently sentenced to longer prison terms than are men for killing their spouses in a domestic violence incident.

• Violent fathers use school records or the presence of children at school to track down the mothers.

• Abusers keep or destroy documentation like birth certificates and immunization records, thus preventing or seriously hindering the family receiving welfare benefits or housing assistance.

• Although divorced and separated women compose only 7 percent of the population of the United States, they account for 75 percent of all battered women and report being battered 14 times as often as women living with their partners.

• In the first year after a divorce, a woman's standard of living drops by 75 percent while a man's improves by an average of 42 percent.

• Although more than one million women seek medical treatment each year for domestic violence, doctors, correctly identify the injuries as resulting from battering only 4 percent of the time.

Illinois Power to cut number of main offices

Illinois Power will reduce the number of its principal officers and make several management changes following an announcement that two executives will retire Jan. 1.

Charles Wells, executive vice president and business group leader for energy supply, and Larry Ideman, vice president of electric and gas supply, announced they will participate in the utility's early retirement program. Illinois Power offered early retirement to about 200 salaried and 450 union employees as part of the utility's "reengineering" efforts to improve service while lowering costs.

Wells and Ideman will continue to work at IP through the end of the year. Other changes will become effective Sept. 1.

Larry Brodsky, senior vice president and business group leader for Support Services, will become senior vice president and business group leader for Energy Supply.

The utility will be replacing Ideman. David Butts, president of Illinova Generating, will become senior vice president and business group leader for Support Services. Alec Dreyer, treasurer and controller at Illinois Power, will replace Butts as president of Illinova Generating.

Brodsky, Butts and Dreyer will report to Larry Haab, Illinois Power chairman, president and chief executive officer.

Cynthia Steward, manager of employee services, will become controller. Steward will report to Larry Altenbaumer, senior vice president and chief financial officer. Altenbaumer will take the additional responsibility of treasurer.

Jesse Price, assistant to the president and manager of public affairs, will become manager of employee services. Price will report to Butts.

Because of these changes, IP will have one less elected officer on Jan. 1, 1996, than it has today.

Collinsville. He worked there for about two years before opening his own practice in Quincy.

But in 1993 Hall decided that he wanted to bring his family back to the Metro East. He found out the animal control position was open, and now he splits time between that facility and Creekwood, where he is back on the staff.

While the idea of working in the Animal Control Department might be overwhelming for some pet lovers, Hall said he would rather make sure the grim tasks of the department are done correctly than not get involved.

"Mostly the job of the Animal Control Department is a mission of mercy," Hall said. "When we have to euthanize animals, sometimes it is very upsetting. But it is also comforting to know that an animal won't have to suffer unfairly anymore."

"It also makes it especially rewarding when we find an animal we can save."

The Animal Control Department, which is located north of Edwardsville on Highway 143, currently shares some cramped quarters with the Madison County Humane Society. But when the Humane Society opens the doors of its own new building next month both organizations should be able to work better.

"Sharing space with the Humane Society is a bit of a blessing and a curse," Hall said. "There were some problems between the two departments that date back to before I started here, but it's important that the two be able to work together to maximize their effectiveness."

Hall said some benefits from the extra space the Animal Control Department will receive when the Humane Society relocates are: more room for office space and examination rooms, more pens in which to keep found or sick animals, and space for a bigger, cleaner and more pleasant euthanasia facility.

"Probably the achievements I'm most proud of since I've been here are improvements to our methods of euthanasia," Hall said. "Getting rid of the gas chamber for dogs (lethal injection is now used). It's a huge improvement from the humanity standpoint. We've also adopted the practice of sedating cats before we euthanize them."

sands of workers," he said. "These businesses are crucial to the economic base of this state and the economic future of southwestern Illinois."

Edgar noted that the state's grant was a small amount compared to the $67 million National Steel is putting into the new galvanizing line.

The processing facility will create 40 new jobs and help retain another 350 existing positions.

He also noted that the state has also provided $410,000 in job training funds to the company through the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

National Steel spokesman Bob Maxwell said the improved road will be a big help for the company.

WalkFest '95 attracting headliners

WalkFest '95 is attracting a variety of headliners. The walk, scheduled for Sept. 9, is organized annually as a fund-raiser by the Caring Program for Children, a not-for-profit organization developed in 1987 by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Missouri.

Ozzie Smith Jr. will sing. The Little Birds, Junior Cardinal cheerleaders, will provide the rah-rah. The Handy Mayfield Band will jazz it up. And El Request, an a cappella group, will harmonize.

All of the entertainment will be at Aloe Plaza, at 18th and Chestnut streets across from Union Station downtown. Aloe Plaza also is the starting point for a three-mile route through downtown.

The WalkFest will begin at 9 a.m. and will be led by grand marshals Joe and Alice Torre, WalkFest chairman Bruce Yampolsky, and Channel 30 news anchor and WalkFest co-chairman Sherry Sissac.

Registration for WalkFest '95 is under way and costs $8 in advance. Registration is $10 on the day of the event. Groups who register before Aug. 31 will be able to have their company name printed on the back of their official WalkFest T-shirt. All those who register will receive a T-shirt, lunch, soft drinks, a walker bag and souvenirs.

For more information about WalkFest '95, call 923-4763.

"It will be a much better means for our trucks to get the product away from the plant, back to the plant, and to the markets that we serve," he said.

Granite City Mayor Ron Selph, who attended the ceremony, said he was very pleased with the announcement.

"Any time we get three-fourths of a project funded by other entities it's a good thing for Granite City," he said.

Selph added that the city was looking at ways to fund its 25 percent of the cost.

"We're looking at it now," he said. "We're looking at the possibility of using tax increment financing funds, because most of that street is in the (downtown) TIF district. We could probably fund funds from that end, as well as the possibility of community development or block grant funds."

No construction timetable was given.

up and the warrant had not been entered," he said. "Things like that happen."

Police said Henry also has other felony drug charges from Madison and Granite City pending.

According to the St. Clair County State's Attorney's office, Henry had pled guilty to robbery and murder in a 1992 drug-related homicide in East St. Louis, and had skipped out of a sentencing hearing. A bench warrant was issued on March 2, 1995.

Authorities said that on Feb. 25, 1992, Henry and three others attempted to rob an alleged drug house at 2721 Gaty Ave. The robbery turned into a shoot-out and two men at the house, Troy Haines and Derrick Butler, were killed. Henry had originally been charged with two counts of first-degree murder.

Two of her associates — Kenneth Bowmes and Mario Johnson — received life sentences for the slayings.

According to the St. Clair County State's Attorney's office, the case had been investigated by the Illinois State Police, Department of Criminal Investigations, and no other information was available on the case.

Hosts sought for SIUE foreign students

The International Hospitality Program (IHP) is seeking families who would be interested in hosting international students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

This exchange provides an opportunity for families to learn and understand more about other cultures and nationalities; broaden global perspectives; and develop new friendships through mutual sharing at family gatherings, holiday celebrations, excursions to the zoo, theater and civic events.

The students are many miles from home and the local family can be the lifeline which offers support and security — a true friend who is there to share their frustrations, joys, sorrows and successes.

Hosting a student does not mean having that student live in your home. It does not mean a financial commitment or an obligation to support that student.

What it does mean is that you have decided to be a friend to a student who is in a new and different setting and in the process of making many adjustments to our culture and society.

The International Hospitality Program is a community group of volunteers organized to promote mutually rewarding relationships between American families and international students at SIUE.

Since its founding as an organization in 1968, the IHP members have made possible the "plus" that enriches the lives of students and the host families by providing host families the opportunity of learning and understanding more about other cultures and nationalities.

At the SIUE 25th anniversary celebration, IHP received a plaque in honor and recognition of their long-term service as a community volunteer organization working with international students on the SIUE campus.

Doris Givlio, an IHP host family coordinator, said, "By the choice to become a host family, you will be providing an opportunity for your family to learn first hand about other countries and cultures," she said. "The knowledge you gain will help to broaden your awareness of world events and global issues which affect all our lives."

"If you are not a world traveler, this opportunity provides a way to have the world visit you. Friendships are formed which will continue long after the students have completed their education and returned home," she said.

"Don't miss the opportunity to welcome and assist an international student, to make new friends, and to grow in your understanding of others," she said.

The public is invited to attend the annual IHP fall picnic 1 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 26, at the Tower Lake Recreational Area on campus at SIUE. Games and recreation will follow lunch. Bring a generous picnic lunch to be shared with family and student guests.

Paper products and utensils will be furnished. Come prepared to meet many interesting international students, other host families, and share in a global gathering.

For more information, call Doris Givlio, 656-0548 or Robert Hawkins at 456-2688.

Mars to replace Wilmsmeyer as BAC Foundation chairman

Civic leader Billie J. Marsh of Belleville has been elected chairman of the Belleville Area College Foundation Board of Directors for the coming year. Retired banking executive Richard C. May of Belleville was elected vice chairman of the board.

Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer of Granite City, who continues as a member of the board, is the immediate past chair. Wilmsmeyer is the retired chairman of Magna Bank of Madison County.

The board's mission is to secure friends and funds for Belleville Area College. This year, there will be 80 students receiving foundation scholarships, provided by private gifts from individuals, businesses and organizations. In addition, the foundation has awarded more than $45,000 in competitive program or professional enhancement grants this year.

"By raising money, the foundation can provide many extras for the students and faculty," Marsh said. "Don't be surprised if you come to visit (BAC) and you see young children or white-haired adults along with the traditional-age college student. There's something for everyone."

BAC, with its three campuses and 20 extension centers, has approximately 24,000 students enrolled in credit classes annually. The average age of a BAC student is 31. In addition, the college operates a number of nontraditional programs, including summer enrichment sessions for grade school children and year-round programs for seniors.

Participation in both children's and senior programs are underwritten by grants or program fees. Marilyn Santner of Belleville is the foundation's secretary; Diane Agan of O'Fallon is the treasurer.

Marsh, who has served on the foundation board since 1986, is a true civic leader. Through the years, she has served on the boards of numerous agencies and organizations, including Belleville Grade School District 118, First United Presbyterian Church in Belleville, River Bluffs Girl Scout Council and the University of Illinois Mothers' Association.

A 1948 graduate of the University of Illinois, Marsh also has been active in the Metro East Women's Crisis Center and is a lifetime member in the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and the American Association of University Women.

May is the retired chief executive officer of Illini Federal in Fairview Heights, where he worked for 37 years. He spent about 25 years as the bank's chief executive officer. When Illini Federal and First Financial Bank merged in January 1990, May became executive vice president of First Financial Bank, a post he held until June 1990, when he retired.

Other members of the foundation board are:

William S. Badgley of Belleville, retired chairman and chief executive officer of Magna Group Inc.; David L. Bramlet of Belleville, executive vice president of Magna Group Inc.; Barbara Constance of Belleville, civic leader; Lucille W. Davis of Belleville, civic leader; Gary Haskell of Collinsville, vice chairman of United Missouri Bank; Bruce Holland of Belleville, president of Horrell Distributing Company; Joseph W. Lowery of Belleville, attorney; K. Lane Miller of Belleville, retired school superintendent; Orison R. Seibert of Belleville, farmer, real estate; Joseph J. Cipli, Ph.D., of Shiloh, president of Belleville Area College; and D. Michael Bowen of O'Fallon, chairman of the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees.

The Clippers' Darin Hendrickson preserved Granite's win over Valmeyer.

Floarke to hit into an inning-ending double play.

Then, in the seventh, when Hendrickson hit Laker's batter Mike McCarthy — the player who led the league in getting Dubs by pitches this year — that stirred up things even more. But Hendrickson retired the next two hitters to preserve the win.

And a big win it was. The winner of Saturday's game needed only to come back on Sunday and win one out of two games to take the championship; while the loser had to play a second game on Saturday and win three straight overall to take the title.

DePew admitted after Saturday's game that the Lakers got under the Clippers' skin just a little.

But that's baseball, and it's all between the lines. There's no hard feelings between end and them."

Yet, in Sunday's game, Granite City played their bare game of the playoffs and thumped the Lakers to the tune of 14-2.

Lakers player-manager Craig Hoffman said he didn't think it was a case of waking a sleeping dog.

"They're too good to wake up. We just lost to a better team, yesterday and today. They have a very deep pitching staff."

When Hendrickson came to bat in the fifth inning on Sunday, he was brushed back by Valmeyer's Mason Horne; and after grounding out to second, he said something to Horne as he trotted back to the dugout.

Hendrickson came to bat again in the sixth, with two men on. He sent a Chris got the big hits today when we needed to." On Sunday, the big hit came from Brian Harshany, who despite not pitching in the playoffs could have been considered for the MVP award. With Granite City up 3-1 and two outs in the second inning, it appeared that Clippers' starting pitcher Kevin Lucht might escape further damage.

But Harshany stroked a 2-pitch for a single to left, and suddenly the lead was 5-1. Harshany later scored on a double by John Spota.

Mason Horne replaced Lucht, and after a 1-3 Clippers third inning, Harshany struck once more, again with two outs.

Joked around Harshany and "First Pitch" Harshany smacked Horne's initial offering well over the left-field fence to make it 8-1. Granite City scored their last eight runs as a result of home runs, and 11 of their runs came with two out. Every batter in the Granite City lineup recorded at least one hit.

In the fifth, with the wind blowing to right, twins Tim and Jamie Hogan each connected for four-baggers. To top the merriment off, Hendrickson teed off for a 3-run shot off of Chris Kohnz in the sixth.

Meanwhile, Winfield was his own worst enemy, as he fell behind countless hitters and walked five in all. But he pitched out of trouble more times than not.

"I lost my control out there," Winfield said. "I was a little tired out the end, but I made some big pitches when I had to. (Hendrickson) helped me make an adjustment in my delivery, and that helped me get the ball down."

"When you've got a defense like this behind you, all you have to do is throw strikes. I'm just fortunate to be on a team like this. This is probably the best team I've ever been on or ever will be on."

Mark is a young kid, and he still has to groom himself," said DePew. "But he has the ability, and learning to make the big pitches. Defense is this team's forte."

Harshany finished with two homers and eight RBIs in the final two games. Besides his timely hitting, he added five infield assists in Sunday's game. Hendrickson's Honda capped off a weekend which saw him win Game 1 and save Game 2.

"Lucht beat Granite City earlier in the year, and we hoping he could do it again today," Hoffman said. "He had taken some time off lately, so he was a little rusty. He normally keeps the ball down, but it didn't work out today. Granite City just has too many good hitters up and down their lineup."

Kohnz offering deep over the left-field fence, and although no other words were said, the smile on Hendrickson's face spoke volumes.

"There were some verbal exchanges last night and today, but it's all part of the game," DePew said. "We have friends on that team."

"I wouldn't say it woke us up, but it did pick up the intensity in our dugout, and I'm sure in their's, too."

In the sixth year of the organization, the Clippers won Granite City's third championship in the last four years.

"We stick together on this team, and hopefully we can keep it going. I think this was the best team we've had in our six years," DePew said.

Warriors

On defense, a strong-point appears to be at linebacker, where the Warriors have some size and experience. Senior John Sellers (6-0, 220) will start there, and play offensive guard as well. Bobby Ellis (6-2, 206), another senior, will play at linebacker, and also see time at tight end.

Junior Jason Moad (6-3, 172) will get playing time at tight end also. "We didn't lose too many seniors to graduation last year," said Harris. "But we still don't have a senior-laden team this year either. We had a good group of sophomores last year, and they're coming back as a more experienced group this year."

"So far in practice, we haven't made as many mistakes, especially in our scrimmages. We look like a more experienced team."

The Warrior schedule is again a tough one, with O'Fallon and another playoff team following the Cahokia game.

"We'll have a lot of questions answered by the end of the second game," said Harris. "Heating into the Belleville West game in the third week, we should know a lot. And it wouldn't matter how you rearrange our schedule, it would still make for a tough couple of weeks right off the bat."

Harris thinks Belleville East should be the favorite to repeat as Southwestern Conference champs, and no doubt East St. Louis will be a force as well. The conference season starts on Sept. 8 with the Belleville West game.

Granite City gets to travel to East St. Louis on Sept. 23, and they will finish the regular season with an Oct. 20 game hosting Belleville East.

never be totally ready for conditions like that. It'll be up to it's not."

Harris and the Warriors have been working on conditioning for several weeks. The Warrior coaching staff held a football camp this summer, where the attendance and the attitude were good.

"Conditioning is such a big factor these days; the better conditioned team has a big advantage. So we've been concentrating on that, and the kids are giving 100 percent. They're going as hard as they can go."

New weight equipment has been added at the school this year, and there may be an whole new weight room to come in the future. But the improved conditions have meant easy access for the football players.

Harris said he sets a target of 20 players on his team that can bench press 100 pounds or more. Although the Warriors aren't quite to that stage yet, they're close.

"If you have 20 that can do that, you have a pretty strong team. We're at about 16 or 17 right now, so we're close but we're not there yet."

Harris raved about his lineman Chris Janek, who pressed 370 pounds, which led the team. He also talked about his quarterback, Kevin Harris, who pressed 225 pounds himself.

"We've got skilled people getting stronger," he said. The kids are working hard; they've got a great attitude; and they are very focused on what needs to be done.

"Winners go as hard as they can go, and they hold their heads up high. They are confident, and feel that they can be successful. Our kids are acting like winners in practice, and if you practice that way, you can play that way."

So although Harris will have a young team, he sees them getting stronger by the day.

Granite City will need that as they play Cahokia, O'Fallon and Belleville West in their first three games.

Harris has spoken out before about his dislike for the earlier football schedule, and it is conceivable that the team could play half of its games in the summer heat.

"It's not because of what it does to the team; every team has to face the same conditions. It's because of what it does to the game of football and the families. We had two or three players who didn't get to go on vacation with their families because they had to be present for 12 practices. Otherwise, they would have been ineligible."

"I think they may move the season back the other way next year, and if they do it will make a big difference."

Feeling like a fish out of water is what Lynda Cunningham, this year's Preceptor of the Year winner, said she feels like.

Cunningham, a respiratory therapist at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, said she presents a unique side of care when teaching others.

"I have been a frustrated teacher because I have always wanted to teach but didn't go into that field," Cunningham said. "So, I have always taught in the health care field since I was hired at SEMC. I help train new employees, students and staff. I am very happy to be chosen the Preceptor of the Year."

The preceptor program, coordinated by Lora Wasco-Alexander, staff education coordinator, and Mary Anne Douglas, critical care clinician, trains chosen St. Elizabeth Medical Center associates on how to educate new or transferring associates on their job responsibilities.

For about one month, each preceptor teaches a new nurse the responsibilities of the job and guides the nurse through everyday situations. This nurse is referred to as the preceptee. The goal is to ease the preceptee's transition into the work environment.

Preceptor of the Year candidates are nominated by a fellow associate or their unit director.

Dan McDowell, director of Pulmonary Services, nominated Cunningham because her first love is teaching. In her nomination he wrote, "she is very good at breaking down difficult subjects into easily assimilated components. More than anything else, I think it is her passion for what she does that makes her stand out from others. She is an excellent teacher."

Lynda Cunningham
SEMC Preceptor of the Year

Cunningham has been a preceptor for three years. She served as educator in her department but with the program she was taught how to train others. She said this training has helped her with Belleville Area College students and as a result would like to get more associates from her department involved in the preceptor program.

An associate for 12 years,

Cunningham was hired as a student respiratory therapist and finished school while she worked. Later she became clinical instructor for BAC students and pulmonary rehab and worked her way to respiratory supervisor in the Critical Care Unit.

"I am like a fish out of water, not a nurse or a nurse aide, I am a respiratory therapist which means I have a unique thing to share with others," she said.

"They can see how important what we do is, and it makes it easier to work with nurses after they see how important it is for us to work as a team. The Preceptor program helps promote the team atmosphere at SEMC. We all know why we do what we do and they know what you do and how to do it. I get the chance to stress that importance to others. I never thought I would get this and I am tickled pink. If I can do it, anyone can," she said.

Members of a local singing group, the Stillwater Band, will be competing Aug. 26 at the Christy Lane Theater in Branson, Mo.

The Salvation Army is once again announcing its Back to School Assistance program for needy children, grades kindergarten through sixth, covering all of southwest Madison County, which includes Collinsville, Edwardsville, Glen Carbon, Granite City, Troy and all areas in between.

"We will supply the basic materials needed for each child so they can start school right. Being prepared for school goes along with their education. Without the needed materials a student has to play catch up with the others which is a bad way to start school," a Salvation Army spokesman said.

Each child will receive a package of school supplies to help get started.

Included are paper, pencils, glue, scissors and crayons.

Requirements: Proof of residence and child's ID.

Dates: Aug. 24-25.

Time: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Address: The Salvation Army, 3007 E. 23rd Street, Granite City.

For more information call the Salvation Army office at 451-7967.

Economist says earned income tax credit isn't working right

By Roger McGrath
Correspondent

The earned income tax credit is popular: With the working poor who benefit from the program, and with the politicians in Washington, D.C., who have pledged to help our nation's less-fortunate citizens.

President Bill Clinton made expansion of the tax credit the centerpiece of an economic plan approved two years ago.

The tax credit, however, doesn't quite work as advertised, claims Edgar Browning, an economics professor at Texas A&M University.

The earned income tax credit (EITC) fails on a number of counts, Browning says:

- The expanded EITC "extends welfare payment to millions of families who are not poor and who are fully self-supporting," he says.
- "For these families, the program provides a definite work disincentive," exactly contrary to the EITC's aim, he adds.

- And for a majority of low-income workers, claiming the tax credit would actually reduce their income, he says.

This is not how the earned income tax credit is supposed to work. The EITC refunds all or a portion of the federal income tax withheld from the paycheck.

A family with two children and one worker earning $8,425 to $11,000 qualified for a credit of $3,370 in 1994. Those earning less than $8,425 or more than $11,000 were eligible for smaller credits; with a $27,000 annual income, the credit was zero.

The EITC is performing as envisioned — family income is higher, thanks to the credit and to earnings of family members who have found work — but only for the 25 percent of recipients earning less than $8,425 annually, Browning says.

The EITC doesn't work for the 15 percent of recipients in the $8,425 to $11,000 plateau, nor for the 80 percent earning more than $11,000, he says.

"In the plateau range, the EITC operates like a lump-sum transfer," he says.

The effect: Less work effort but higher income, because the lump sum more than replaces the lost wages.

Browning is most critical of the EITC's impact on those earning $11,000 to $27,000 annually. The latter figure is nearly double the 1989 poverty line of $14,335. That means many of those claiming the tax credit aren't poor, he says.

Then there's the impact on income. A two-child family earning $29,500, if it claimed the EITC, would have $73 less to spend, Browning says. In fact, all two-child families earning more than $30,500 — 40 percent of those eligible for the tax credit — would see their income trimmed, he says.

That income effect would also reduce work effort, since working would actually cut family income. Browning speculates that some families earning a bit more than $27,000 annually reduce their work hours, thus cutting income so they'll qualify for the EITC.

Can the positive aspects of the program be retained while eliminating the negatives?

"It is my opinion this is impossible," he says.

Browning suggests replacing the EITC with a wage-rate subsidy, although he admits such a plan would require a bureaucracy to administer.

Portfolio designed with mutual funds can meet multiple financial needs

One of the difficulties in making investment decisions is that you have many financial needs to satisfy. You may need a high level of investment income. At the same time, you may require a plan to build assets for longer-term goals, like meeting the cost of college or gaining the financial freedom to enjoy the retirement lifestyle you choose.

One of the best strategies to help you meet a variety of goals is asset allocation: spreading your assets over a range of different kinds of securities. And one of the best ways to allocate assets is with mutual funds. By allocating your assets over several types of mutual funds, you can create a portfolio that works to help you achieve many objectives.

Example: Couple with young children

Say you have preschool children at home and your spouse works part time. Your two primary goals may be supplementing your income to meet current expenses, while building college funds for your children. However, if most of your investments are in mutual funds that invest primarily in U.S. government securities, you may need to consider alternative investments that hold the possibility of better return. For a competitive level of investment income, consider allocating a portion of your investment dollars to mutual funds that invest in high-quality corporate bonds, in addition to your government securities funds. Now, about your college plan for the kids: Because investing to meet the cost of college is a long-term goal if your children are young, equity mutual funds may be most appropriate for you. Stocks historically have outperformed bonds and cash investments over time, even though stocks tend to rise or fall more sharply in any given year. (Source: Ibbotson Associates). If you seek high-growth potential and can accept greater fluctuations, a mutual fund of small company stocks may be right for you. If you want to pursue growth less aggressively, try a mutual fund of large company stocks, which frequently pay dividends in addition to giving you potential growth.

Example: High-wage earner age 50-plus

If you're an investor in your 50s and at the peak of your career earnings, reducing taxes may be your priority. But staying ahead of inflation and maintaining growth potential for your assets is also very important — it could mean a big difference in your lifestyle when you retire.

You can invest for tax-free income through municipal bond mutual funds. Your income would be free from federal taxes. If the securities in your fund are issued by your state of residence, you would pay no federal, state or local income taxes. Income from municipal bonds may be subject to alternative minimum tax or certain state or local taxes.

It's smart to move gradually into less aggressive investments as you approach the time you plan to retire. However, one of the drawbacks to being overly cautious with principal and shifting assets entirely to lower-yielding investments is that inflation erodes a greater portion of the return. Maintaining some equity investments in your portfolio even as you approach retirement age is often wise.

If you're in your 50s, switching from aggressive growth stock funds to large company stock funds may be suitable for the equity portion of your portfolio.

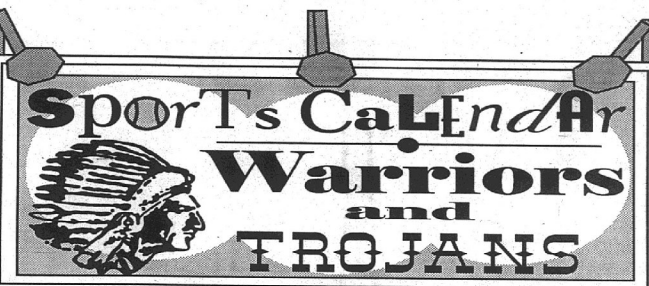

Continuing to hold equities will give you a higher potential return and a better chance of staying ahead of inflation. Therefore, if you complement your tax-free bond funds with equity funds, you will be allocating your assets in a way that addresses both of your goals.

Moderating your investment risk

Allocating assets among several types of mutual funds may moderate your investment risk. Different segments of the market react differently to the same economic conditions. For example, a cut in interest rates may lower yields on your bond funds, but the news could spark a rally in stocks that would benefit your equity funds. Having a widely allocated portfolio could help reduce dramatic fluctuations in value than a portfolio that is tied to only one sector of the market.

How you allocate your assets is critical to giving yourself better return potential. Research has shown, for example, that over 50 percent of the difference in performance between two portfolios can be attributed to how each is allocated. Investing in mutual funds with different investment objectives can provide broader asset allocation than investing in only one type of fund. It could be an excellent strategy for pursuing your many financial goals.

Classic films give glimpse of WWII action

By Jane Cosby
Correspondent

With all the attention lately on the anniversary of the end of World War II and the dropping of the bomb on Japan, your children may be interested in watching movies about the war. Some of the movies made about the war are better than others; here are some of the best. But remember that the violence and adult themes of these movies make them appropriate only for older children.

AIR WAR: "Memphis Belle" tells about the crew of a B-17 bomber who must fly one more mission over Germany before they can go home. The movie was made in 1990 using authentic B-17s and provides a fairly realistic picture of the conditions men faced on air raid missions. (107 minutes, PG-13 rating.)

"Twelve O'Clock High" is a black-and-white movie made in 1949 starring Gregory Peck. It tells about a bomber group in England which has suffered high casualties and faces the prospect of even more losses in future raids.

This movie is an excellent drama about the effects of war on the men involved. (132 minutes, Not rated, no objectionable content.)

"Bridge on the River Kwai" is a classic World War II movie that features a psychological battle between a stubborn British commander in a Japanese prison camp pitted against the equally stubborn Japanese camp commander. (165 minutes, PG rating.)

WAR AGAINST GERMANY: "The Longest Day" is an epic movie made in 1962 about the invasion of Normandy. It features some of the most popular male movie stars of the time. (183 minutes, G rating.)

"The Great Escape" is based on a true story of a mass escape from a German POW camp. This movie has great actors, incredible action scenes and a memorable climax. (173 minutes, R rating.)

ESCAPE FROM WAR: For something different, watch the escapist fare that was made during the war about the war. Introduce your kids to the antics of Abbott and Costello in "Keep 'Em Flying" or "In the Navy." Young kids will enjoy the slapstick fun of this classic duo. (About 85 minutes each, Not rated, no objectionable content.)

Food & Nutrition

Wise Ways

Celebrate bumper season of fresh peaches by freezing the top-of-the-crop.

Heart-y Bites

Fruity ices cap summer's light eating with range of sweet, appetizing, refreshing flavors.

Blue Ribbon Cook

Make Banana Split Dessert and store it in the freezer for a ready-to-serve, party prize-winner.

Private Label Test Run

President's Choice products are feeling at home at Schnuck Markets. Suburban Journal tasters tested perkiness of President's Blend gourmet coffee.

Micro Raves

Catch up with superb seafood landed in the sea, river, lake or market.

Lively Taste

Carrots, snow peas and flower vegetables like cauliflower and broccoli take well to honey-ginger mustard. Make a paste with 1 tablespoon water and 1/4 cup dry mustard. Add 1-1/2 teaspoons minced fresh ginger and 2 tablespoons honey. Dollop a spoonful on hot vegetables. For more flavor, add a couple tablespoons low-sodium soy sauce to vegetables when they are hot — with or without the mustard.

Health & Fitness

Medicine Chest

Preventive measures avoid diseases spread by tick bites.

Fresh Picks

Summer fruits take a turn at providing high potassium. One cup halved fresh apricots or 1 cup cubed honeydew or cantaloupe provides as much potassium as 1 medium banana. A baked or boiled potato — new supplies are delicious now — provide even more potassium. Among dried fruits, 9 apricot halves, 7 prunes or 1/2 cup raisins equals 1 banana. For those who prefer juice, look up 1 cup orange juice, 6 ounces prune juice or 1 cup tomato or tomato-vegetable juice.

Big Fat Tip

Bean salad is a summer treat. Triple its enjoyment by using three varieties — garbanzo, pinto and black. Drain, rinse, drain again a 15-ounce can of each. Combine with 3/4 cup chopped bell pepper, red preferred for color. Add 1/4 cup chopped fresh cilantro or 1 teaspoon chili powder; 1/4 cup sliced green onion; 2 cups (8 ounces) shredded fat-free cheese of choice, and 1 clove garlic, minced. Mix lightly. Chill several hours to blend flavors. Makes 12 servings.

Future Shop

If the cook is stuck on apple or cider vinegar, it's time to stroll down a supermarket's vinegar aisle. Red wine vinegar's flavorings are plentiful and growing. Tarragon and garlic flavors are familiar ways to make engaging salad dressings. Raspberry and strawberry wine vinegar provide lighter enjoyment. Sherry is not the only wine named by variety on vinegar bottles. Chablis, marsala, cherry, sauterne and burgundy can be chosen, too. White wine vinegar comes with lemon. Look for rice wine vinegar for an Oriental touch.

In January, the summer's melting-hot sun and preoccupation with the heat index will be a distant memory. In the meantime, chill out and cool down with some sweet ideas.

These snacks are more fun than decadent. In fact, they have been designed with summer survival in mind. They are refreshing, filling and use decent ingredients. Still, they are fancy enough to serve company when they come by to watch "Ice Castles" or "Ice Station Zebra" on a video. They also alleviate the ache in a person's sweet tooth.

For an icy treat, hand out ice cream cookie sandwiches. To make them, squish ice cream or frozen yogurt and a couple chocolate minichips between graham crackers, freeze on a tray, then wrap them individually in colored plastic wrap and tie with ribbon.

Nutrition comes in flavors, too. For instance, it can get a kick by adding fruit or flavored frozen yogurt or ice cream for a shake.

In other treats, a sweet trick is chocolate milk. Chocolate Shake has protein from milk and peanut butter, as well as other dairy and fruit nutrients. The muffins hold a rich little surprise when chocolate-flavored cream cheese drops into the center of the streamlined dough.

In fact, by adding fruit or a

Fruitful Habits

Children who get into the habit of eating fruit are more likely to eat it regularly as they grow up.

Make It Shake is a delicious way to let them enjoy the fruits of summer.

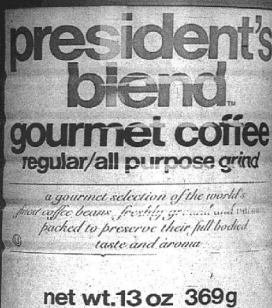

For each shake, chop 2 fresh peaches or nectarines or 4 fresh plums in cubes. In a covered blender or food processor, whirl fruit with 1/4 cup nonfat frozen yogurt and 1/2 cup nonfat milk until smooth and fluffy. Serve with a straw and piece of sliced fruit on top.

Makes 1- to 1-1/2-cup serving.

Private Label Test Run

Coffee is one of the 200 President's Choice products expanded from former National Super Market stores to all Schnuck Markets.

President's Choice moves to new home at Schnucks

President's Choice products are beginning to feel at home at Schnuck Markets. One of them brought over from National Super Markets is President's Blend gourmet coffee.

As in many offices, coffee perks up workers each morning at the Suburban Journals, so tasters readily lined up to taste the hot blend.

Some were impressed and ready to look for the brand — if the price is right, most said — when their turn comes up to share a can of coffee with co-workers.

A coffee "regular" who enjoys drinking it throughout the day gave a glowing recommendation.

"This tastes full-bodied, and there is another good point about it. I sometimes have a problem with other brands after they have been out awhile. I pick up kind of an acid taste, a little bitterness. But this just stays with the same body of flavor. I really like it," she said.

Others commented on the good taste as well.

"It has a full, strong taste that isn't heavy. It's a good 'morning' coffee," another said.

Another brewed a little longer over her recommendation.

"It's fine for here, but just doesn't have as much rich full flavor as the two major brands I prefer. Coffee is one of the very few things I don't substitute much for home use," she said.

The coffee, priced at $3.69 for a 13-ounce can in regular or fine grind, is the same price charged by the previous chain. This is 10 cents less than most national brand prices begin.

The coffee is one of 200 President's Choice products which first simply were replenished on former National store shelves as supply was available. By the end of this week, those products should be extended to all Schnucks stores.

According to a representative of Schnucks, the chain next will evaluate performance of these products and which additional President's Choice products it would like to bring to its shelves.

Step out of sun and fat with summery-light ices

August's heat and humidity can diminish even hearty appetites. Meals respond by becoming lighter. So do desserts.

While the intense summer sun glows, a low-fat frozen dessert can refresh as well as a dip-in the pool. Frozen desserts cover a broad spectrum, from high-fat frozen custard to fat-free fruit ice.

Frozen desserts with little or no fat do not taste like a sacrifice when they are full of refreshing flavor. Unlike ice creams and custards richly laden with heavy cream and full-fat milks, fruit ice offers a delicious fat-free ending to a meal that enhances, rather than overwhelms, it.

Fruit ice, sorbet and sherbet are popular choices.

Water, sugar and a flavoring, such as fresh or frozen fruit juice or puree, are their common ingredients. Seasonal blueberries, strawberries and blackberries are attractive fruits to use. Sherbets usually contain milk and egg whites, while sorbets typically are less sweet.

The freezing method helps determine the coarseness of the ice granules. Churn-freezing with an ice cream maker yields more smoothness, while ingredients frozen in a shallow pan become a coarser ice product.

During a recent 90°-plus day, we gathered the rock salt, bags of ice and fired up the ice cream maker after a family barbecue. Instead of using high-fat ingredients, we filled the canister with a concoction of orange juice, lemon juice, sugar and water. The children watched in delight as the ice cream maker churned around and around with the promise of a cold dessert when it stopped.

Both adults and children gave an unsolicited "Ahhhhh..." as they sank into the first refreshing bite.

Try this recipe when you need a cool dip.

The next "I Love Eating" class will be held from 11:45 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday, Aug. 25, in the courtyard of the Manchester-270 Office Center.

ORANGE LEMON ICE

- 1 tbsp. grated orange rind
- 2 cups sugar
- 4 cups water
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 2 cups frozen or fresh orange juice
- ¾ cup freshly-squeezed lemon juice
- Mint sprigs, if desired

In medium saucepan, combine orange rind, sugar, water and salt until dissolved. Bring to boil. Boil, covered, 5 minutes without stirring.

Let cool to room temperature, then refrigerate to chill.

Add orange juice and lemon juice. Freeze according to ice cream maker's directions, or place in shallow pan and freeze 4 to 5 hours, stirring every hour to reduce size of ice crystals. Garnish with mint.

Abundant ticks need to be discouraged

With an abundance this year of ticks, there again is concern regarding diseases they can pass to humans.

Lyme's disease is one such condition, transmitted by the deer tick. Recently frozen have been reports of Ehrlichiosis, another tick-transmitted disease.

Luckily these conditions, once diagnosed, can be treated with antibiotics that have been around a long time.

The key to decreasing risk of tick-borne diseases are, first, prevention and, second, removing ticks within the first 24 hours.

To prevent ticks, follow these tips:

- Avoid areas infested with ticks during the summer months.
- Apply insect repellent containing DEET to the skin, tops of shoes and socks. This is found in shelf products like OFF. Read the label.

- Apply the pesticide permethrin only on clothes.

- Treat pets regularly with insecticides recommended for animals.

Prepare something fishy for alluring, quick meal

Make your "catch of the day" quick and easy, courtesy of the microwave oven.

Whether seafood comes from the river, the ocean or the supermarket, microwave cooking gets it to the table quickly with no loss of flavor or texture. Today's focus on simple, nutritious meals, seafood is a perfect low-cholesterol, low-fat, low-sodium choice for healthy eating.

Fresh fish should be cooked or chilled as soon as possible to retain its delicate flavor and texture. Frozen fish fillets — like other foods — are easy to defrost in a microwave oven. Seafood never should be defrosted and refrozen, because its texture and flavor will change.

When selecting fish for recipes, choose delicately textured fish, such as flounder, sole, haddock or trout — for serving with sauces. Firmer-fleshed fish — such as halibut, snapper, or catfish — are better suited to serving as steaks.

One pound frozen fish fillets can be defrosted at low power (30 percent) for 5 to 10 minutes, turning over the package halfway through the defrost time. Thawed fish should be flexible, but feel cold and slightly icy to the touch.

Always use the minimum cooking time recommended, adding extra minutes in small increments only if necessary. Once it is defrosted, fish cooks — and, remember, it continues to cook several minutes after being removed from the microwave oven.

If a sauce will be served with the fish, prepare it first, so it is ready to pour over the fish at the end of the cooking time.

Combine the flavor of fresh vegetables and fish to produce a handy summer meal in a microwave oven.

Home economist Judy Eddy specializes in microwave cooking.

VEGETABLE AND FISH MEDLEY

- 4 medium red potatoes, scrubbed, cut in wedges
- 2 small zucchini

- ½ red or green bell pepper
- 3 tbsp. margarine
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice
- ½ tsp. crushed dill weed
- ¼ tsp. garlic salt
- 1 lb. frozen fish fillets, thawed if necessary

Slice zucchini and pepper in strips or slices. Combine with potato in microwave safe casserole. Cover with plastic wrap, venting corner to reduce accumulated steam.

Microwave on high power about 7 minutes until vegetables are fork-tender. Push vegetables to edge of casserole, leaving open ring in center.

Combine margarine, lemon juice, dill and garlic salt in small microwave-safe cup or bowl. Brush fish with mixture. Roll each lengthwise.

Arrange rolls in center of vegetables. Drizzle remaining butter over vegetables and fish. Cover with vented plastic wrap. Microwave on high power 5 to 6 minutes until fish flakes when pierced with fork.

Makes 4 servings.

Picnics need fruit for cooling balance

Part of the fun of summer is enjoying lunch under a tree. Peaches to apples, pears to kiwifruit are all equally satisfying there.

These recipes call for kiwifruit, because it is a flavorful, easily-sliced, soft-when-ripe fruit that thrives on variety. Other fruits, like peaches and nectarines can be used in its place if desired, but a fruit mixture will be deprived of its engaging, compatible yet contrasting color and fresh flavor.

When selecting kiwifruit, keep in mind that a perfectly ripe kiwi should be soft to the touch, like a ripe avocado or peach. The firmer the fruit, the more tart it tastes, so those who prefer a sweet taste should let it ripen fully. Kiwifruit will ripen at room temperature in three to five days.

Once kiwifruit is ripe, it is one of the easiest fruits to keep from spoiling. Simply place it in a plastic bag and refrigerate it up to three weeks. It is as delectable as strawberries in any food that calls for fresh fruit.

Here are a couple ways beyond fruit salad to enjoy it.

CHICKEN SALAD PITAS

- 2 skinless, boneless chicken breast halves (12 oz.), cooked, cut in 1/2 inch dice
- 1 tbsp. chopped celery
- 1 tbsp. shredded carrot
- 1 tsp. raisins
- About 2 tbsp. mayonnaise
- Salt and pepper, if desired
- 2 pita bread, cut in half to form pockets
- 4 large green leaf or romaine lettuce leaves
- 3 kiwifruit, peeled, sliced 1/4 inch thick

In medium bowl, combine chicken, celery, carrot, raisins and mayonnaise. Season with salt and pepper.

Line each pita half with lettuce leaf. Divide chicken salad between pitas. Tuck in kiwifruit. Serve at once.

Makes 4 half-sandwiches; 316 calories, 9 g fat, 30 g protein, 76 mg cholesterol, 27 g carbohydrate, 278 mg sodium and 3 g dietary fiber each.

FRUIT AND CHEESE ROLL-UP

- 1/4 cup (1 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese
- 2 kiwifruit, peeled, cut in 1/2 inch dice
- 2 strawberries, cut in 1/2 inch dice
- 2 tsp. poppyseed salad dressing
- 2 whole wheat or white flour tortillas (6 inch diameter)
- 1/2 cup shredded iceberg lettuce

In medium bowl, gently toss cheese, kiwifruit, strawberries and salad dressing until well blended.

Lay tortillas on flat work surface. Soften, if desired, in pan by warming slightly on stovetop, oven or microwave oven. Top with lettuce.

Spoon half the fruit and cheese mixture down center of each tortilla. Roll up burrito-style. Garnish with more fruit, if desired.

Makes 2 roll-ups; 310 calories, 15 g fat, 11 g protein, 250 mg cholesterol.

A variety of fresh fruits should include kiwifruit.

Freezing preserves taste of summer peach crop

With the best peach crop in the St. Louis area in 20 years, my office has been inundated with calls on how to freeze these beauties to enjoy all winter long. There is a temptation though to overdo it and try to freeze more than the freezer can handle.

A freezer has a limit to how much fresh food can be frozen safely at one time. The maximum amount of food that should go into a freezer in any 24-hour period is two to three pounds per cubic foot. Thus, if you have a 12-cubic foot freezer, the maximum amount of fresh peaches that should be frozen at one time is 36 pounds, or about 36 one-pint packages.

If the amount of peaches exceeds the freezer's capacity, quality likely will be sacrificed and food spoilage is possible. The faster peaches freeze, the smaller the ice crystals that form. Smaller ice crystals help keep the shape of peaches, so they are less likely to become marshy when thawed.

Peaches can be packed for freezing in water, syrup or sugar. Since peaches tend to darken during freezer storage, add ascorbic acid vitamin (C) to the peaches during preparation.

Ascorbic acid is available in several forms to buy at drug stores and grocery and discount stores that sell freezer supplies. Crystalline ascorbic acid is easier to dissolve than powder of tablet forms. The amount of ascorbic acid to use varies according to the type of pack chosen.

For a free fact sheet on freezing peaches and other fruits, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Freezing Fruits, 200 University Park Drive, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025-3636.

If you have slightly overripe, soft peaches, you can salvage them in a delectable puree. This makes a delicious topping for ice cream and other desserts.

Certified home economist Carol Schlitt is nutrition and wellness educator with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service at the Edwardsville Extension Center.

PEACH PUREE

- 5 extra-ripe peaches
- 1/4 tsp. powdered ascorbic acid
- 1 pkg. pectin
- 3 cups sugar

Dip peaches in boiling water 30 seconds, cool in running water and remove skins.

Mash peaches with potato masher. Add ascorbic acid and pectin. Let stand 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add sugar. Stir to dissolve completely.

Fill freezer containers with puree. Cover, label, date and freeze.

Yields 3 pints; 55 calories, 14 g carbohydrate and no fat per 1-tablespoon serving.

BLACK-EYED SUSAN SALAD

- 1 can (15 oz.) black-eyed peas, drained
- 1 carton (10 oz.) frozen

- whole kernel corn, thawed
- 1 small green bell pepper, diced
- 1 small red bell pepper,

- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 2 tsp. finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

- 1/4 tsp. garlic powder
- Pinch black pepper

In medium bowl, combine peas, corn, green and red pepper, celery and onion. In small bowl, combine vinegar, oil, sugar, Worcestershire sauce, garlic powder and black pepper.

Pour over vegetables. Toss. Refrigerate several hours. If desired, serve on lettuce leaves garnished with bell pepper rings.

Note: Two tablespoons diced pimiento can replace red pepper. Makes 6 servings.

Winners are notified by mail. Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with the rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

BANANA SPLIT DESSERT

- 2 cups graham cracker crumbs
- 1 cup (3 sticks) margarine
- 2 or 3 bananas, sliced
- ½ gallon neapolitan ice cream
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup chocolate chips

- 2 cups confectioner's sugar
- 1½ cups evaporated milk
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 pint frozen whipped topping, thawed

Let half the margarine soften at room temperature. Mix with crumbs. Reserving some crumbs for top, cover bottom of 9-by-13-inch pan with remainder. Lay banana over crumbs. Slice ice cream about ½-inch thick. Place over bananas. Sprinkle with nuts.

Freeze. Melt chocolate chips and remaining margarine. Add confectioner's sugar and evaporated milk. Stir until mixture boils and becomes thick and smooth.

Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Let cool. Pour over layers. Freeze.

Spread whipped topping on top. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Cover with foil. Return to freezer.

Remove from freezer about 15 minutes before serving.

READY, SET, SKEWER BREAK-FAST

Skewer together cubes of ham or cheese, chunks of banana, apple or peach dipped in a combination of lemon juice and water. Refrigerate, covered, overnight. In the morning, enjoy the ready breakfast or snack cold, or broil or microwave until ham is hot and cheese is bubbly.

Dittrich, Culberk earn awards

Denise Dittrich and Patricia J. Culberk, both of Granite City, recently received performance awards from the Defense Mapping Agency.

This award is given to DMA employees for consistently exceeding the standard of performance for their position. It is awarded after an evaluation of the individual's performance during the previous 12-month period.

A major combat support agency of the U.S. government, the Defense Mapping Agency provides worldwide mapping, charting and geodesy support for the Department of Defense. Millions of paper maps and charts and massive amounts of digital data are generated annually by the agency to ensure the highest state of operational readiness of American military forces, their sophisticated navigation, weapons and command and control systems.

The St. Louis facility is one of three DMA production centers. Its products are used in strategic and tactical planning in flights of all military aircraft, in joint all military operations and exercises, in training with aircraft simulators, in missile guidance and other weapons systems and in manned space missions.

Youth salute — Granite City High School students Mandy Schermer, left, and Mark Hewlett participated in the Greater Belleville Area 1995 Youth Salute, a two-day motivational and leadership seminar at Belleville Area College. The event was sponsored by BAC, Cedarleaf Photography, the Suburban Journals and Magna Bank.
